THE LATE CAPITAL CONVICTION.—RESPITE FOR THE CON ED MAN,-In the matter officery Carnell the Swiss demned for the murder of old Rosseau, in Dey street. nd sentenced to be executed on the 2d of May, Mr. II. L. Clinton, his counsel, has obtained a respite from the Governor until the 27th of June, in order that time may e given for the argument on the motion for a new trial pending before the general term of the Supreme Court.

MOVING TIME-THE LAWS RELATING TO CARTMEN. Yesterday and Tuesday, carts were moving in all di-rections, with furniture, and, no doubt, all this week the removals will be very numerous. The number who move before the first of May, instead of on that eventful lay, is daily increasing; first, because much of the bus tle of a hurried May day removal (which may be stormy too) is avoided; and secondly, the removal of furniture costs less. But the majority cannot remove till the woful day, because the houses they are about to occu-py will not be vacant till then. But very many delight in the good old orthodox fashion, and would not remove, if they could, on any other day. The removal would lose half its charms if it did not take place on the day sacred to confusion. This week the removal of furni-ture will not cost half as much as next, and, on May day, it will cost four times as much, notwithstanding a very stringent law to the contrary. The following are ex-tracts from the law passed May 14, 1835;—

"Furniture, household, and housing, every load, 98% cents.

"In all cases where the distance exceeds half a mile, and does not exceed two miles, the cartman shall be entitled to receive one-third more for every load of the same articles, for every additional half mile he shall cart em. "If any cartman shall ask, demand, receive, take, exact or extort any greater rate or rates, price or prices, or compensation, than is expressed and limited in the pro-visions of this title, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of e dollars for every such offence.

No cartman shall neglect or refuse to cart, or employ horse and cart or sled, in the transportation of any sideles whatever, when required, unless he be then actally otherwise employed, or unless the distance he shall required to go shall be more than four miles from the y Hall, under a penalty of five dollars for every such ence."

City Hall, under a penalty of five dollars for every such offence."

Notwithstanding these very explicit provisions, almost every cartiman asks, demands, receives, takes, or extorts a greater price on May-day than specified by law, and if a greater price is not paid him, he will refuse to eart furniture, in despite of the fine of 55 for every such offence. The fact of the person who employs a cartman, agrecing to pay him more than the regular price, does not exempt him from the fine for receiving it, or entitle him to receive such excess of price; whereas, if a cartman binds himself by contract to take less than the regular price he is bound by it, and cannot legally charge more. The reason of this is that the cartman knows, or ought to know, what the price is, and acts with his eyes open, while the employer is assumed to be ignorance does not bind him. It very rarely happens, however, that any person refuses to pay a cartman what he has actually promised.

Punishment of a Carriage Driver for Miscenduct.—
A few days ago, Mrs. Catharine Davis engaged carriage No. 25, to drive her from the steamer Alabama, from Savannah, at pier 4. North river, to No. 73 Atlantic street, Brooklyn. The driver, John Horton, agreed to take 50 cents for the job, but on reaching the place in Brooklyn he demanded $1.50, and was very abusive to the lady. He finally consented to accept $1, which she paid him. She made complaint subsequently, to the Mayor of this city, who ordered Horton to appear before him. His elity, who ordered Horton to appear before him. His elity, who ordered Horton to appear before him. His sequence of the sequence of the control of the sequence of the sum agreed for.

The Burstine or the Wales Pipe is Mainen Lave.—In reference to the bursting of the Croton pipe in 45 Maiden Lane, which the Captain of the Second ward positive reported was running from Saturday night till the time it was stopped by him, Mr. Silas, who occupied the upper part, writes as follows:—Permit us to correct an error made in your paper and others, of yesterday, in regard to the Croton water running in our premises from Saturday night until Sunday evening. The water was shut off from all our lotts on closing the premises Saturday night until Sunday evening. The water was shut off from all our lotts on closing the premises Saturday night. Mr. Leon, who eccupies the front part of the premises was in at 12 o'clock Sunday noon, and did not hear or see any water running at that time. The damage is not over $500.

Frace is Passaware Tickers.—On Monday, Mr. Bardsley appeared at the Mayor's office to make complaint against Wm. H. Kemper and a person named Smithers, for fraud, in reference to a passage to Files. It appears that Mr. Bardsley agreed for a passage for six full grown persons for £3 to Utica. He paid the party $14.52, which is equal to £3. A ticket was made out and handed to him, which appeared all right on the face of it, but afterwards, on looking at the back of it he found the following figures:—Amount paid, $14.52. Due, $9.68. The ticket was addressed to William Ricchmuller, Troy, and was drawn up by a person named Smithers, who also booked the passengers. The signature was that of "Wm. H. Kemper, Agent." On seeing the entry upon the back of the ticket he applied at the office in Liberty street, but could get no redress, and his, baggang was alvendy on board the boat. The Mayor issued a summons for the parties complained against, and on Tuesday morning they rettled with Bardsley and returned his money. These frauds are of very frequent occurrence.

A man passing, however, saw the negro fall in, and gave the alarm, and efforts were made to save him, but in vain. In about two hours after the body was found. The captain of the lith ward police reports that circumstances of this kind frequently occur at that forry—that on Sunday night an emigrant walked off in the same way, at the same place, and from the same cause—that there is certainly great calpable neglect on the part of those having charge of the ferry, and that there does not appear to be anything about the ferry that can be used for the recovery of persons falling in at this man-trap. The coroner was sent for, and an inquest being held, a verdict of accidental death was returned.

Military Paradus.—The Erina Guards, Ninth Regiment N. Y. S. Militia, paraded on Monday, and made a very fine appearance. They passed the Herald office in the afternoon, and marched in excellent style.

The Pacific Guards, Engine Co. No. 1. (of Paterson, N. J.,) Capt. King, also passed the Herald office, on their return from target practice. The target bore the marks of some very sharp shooting.

Mechanics' Hose Co. No. 2, of Brooklyn, on Monday received their new carriage, a very handsome one, from the makers. They passed the Herald office in the afternoon, accompanied by Granger's Brooklyn Brass Band.

Military Excusion.—The Bowles Fencibles, composed principally of the attaches of the National Theatre, and under command of Capt. A. H. Purly, will make their third full uniform parade on the 28th of next month, when they expect to number from seventy-fire to eighty, rank and file; and in August next they contemplate visiting Quebec, Canada, by invitation of Her Majesty's 75th regiment of Highlanders. The uniform of the Fencibles is very next and showy, and will not fail to attract attention on the route.

Breosen Observators—Meximo of this society, held on Thursday evening, the Coanell reported that the $20,000, on the raising of which the subscriptions had all been conditioned, had been obtained, and the subscriptions had all been conditioned, had been obtained, and the subscriptions now amounted to $23,000. Considerable difficulty had been experienced in selecting a site, as it was desirable, according to the opinion of Professor Loomis, of the New York University, (which they had obtained), to command an unobstructed view of the horizon for ninety degrees, without which, many important observations would be lost. This consideration the Professor mentions as one of prime importance. This object could not be accomplished by raising the observatory tower to a sufficient height, except at the expense of another equally important advantage, viz—the stability of the instrument which is most effectually attained near the surface of the ground. That it was essential that the instrument should be protected from tremors caused by ratifing of carriages, railway trains, &c., and for this object it was most prudent to be ate an observatory where such annoyances were not to be expected. Noise, dust, and local heat, as from chimneys, for inchance, were to be avoided. It was also necessary to command an extensive view of the ocean and harbor. The committee had fixed upon a site which, in the opinion of all who had examined it, was univalled in the advantages which it presented. It was a high ground, retired, commanded an unobstructed view of the horizon, and looked directly out upon the bay and ocean. In short, every condition required for the site of an observatory was answered. It was local in its character of the cits, but was intended for the benefit of commerce as well as for cultivation of astronomical science, and the advancement of the highest interests of New York and its vicinity. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year—President, Sami. Harr

Lester, who has so long been delighting the patrons of this theatre by his splendid talents as a comedian, takes his benefit. Indeed, it would be an irksome task to particularize any one character in which this accomplished actor excels—he is good in everything; and if sterling merit deserves reward in an actor, we are persuaded Mr. Lester will have a pretty convincing proof this evening of the esteem in which he is held by the dramatic public. The bill is very attractive—two beautiful pieces are selected. The first is a new comedicita, entitled a "Morning's Call." the characters by Mr. Lester and Mrs. Russell. Bauconan's Lvenn.—Another most extraordinary novelty was completely successful last night at this popular place of amusement. The plot is simply the determination of a lady to appear upon the stage against the delire of her husband. She does appear at the Lyceum. Brougham personates the irate husband, and by other means dischehants her from her histrionic spell. The conversation in the green-room, with Mrs. Vermon's recollections of the old Park Mr. Lynno's hankerings after the legitimate, and Mr. Brougham's apologies for rapid writing and Lyceum peculiarities generally, was capitally received. As for "Blank Verse Tragedy." It debts description. The destracted Beron calls upon the ocean to rain "hot frozen drops." IRE ALLEGED CHARGE OF MURDER AGAINST "JACK
THE RANKLER."

About a week ago, a young man of genteel appearance, locking like anything else than a murderer, by the name of John Grossman, or more commonly known as "Jack the Hambler," was arrested by officer S. J. Smith, on an alleged charge of causing the death of Mutthew Mention by inflicting a stab in the abdomen, with a dirk knife while in an affray, at the Howling saloon of Mr. Burns situated in Broadway, near Franklin street. It seem that the disturbance and affray took place about tw that the disturbance and affray took place about two 'clock on the morning of the 24th November 1840, a the above named saloon, wherein Mullins received the above named saloon, wherein Mullins received a wound in the abdomen, and a man by the name of Philip Elliot was shot in the arm by a pistol-ball, discharged by Mr. Burns, the proprietor of the establishment. On the death of Mullins, Coroner Walters held an inquest on the bedy, and the facts as then appeared were fully investigated, and the jury found a verdict that Mullins came to his death from a wound inflicted by an individual called "Jack the Rambler." Search at the time was instituted for the purpose of arresting John Grossman, who was represented to be the person alluded to as "Jack the Rambler." However, at that time Grossman was not arrested. The matter passed on, and the whole subject of the afray was laid before the Grand Jury. From the facts, as presented before them on the merits, it appeared to the Jury that Burns and Jack the Rambler" were acting in self-defence, and they as "Jack the Rembler." However, at that thue Grossman was not arrested. The matter passed on, and the whole subject of the affray was laid before the Grand Jury. From the facts, as presented before them on the merits, it appeared to the Jury that Burrs and "Jack the Rambler" were acting in self-defence, and they accordingly dismissed the charge against them. Since which time a space has elapsed of merity two years, and now the whole matter has been mesly revived, and brought up before Justice Osborn on a hearing. Buras has been admitted to ball, but Grossman, aliae "Jack the Rambler." has been detained in custody, awaiting an examination; and on Tuesday afternoon the case was called up, and held in the side chamber at the police court, at the Tombs. In the examination room, between twenty and thirty persons were present, and the first witness sworn in the case was Mr. Conklin Titus, of No. 58 Leonard street. This witness, on a previous occasion, set forth that he was present and saw a young man, on the occasion of the affray in question, with a knife in his hand, make a blow at Mullins. The witness was saked by Mr A. A. Phillips, counsel for defence, whether he could identify the person now in the room present, who, he alleges, stabbed, or had the knife in the affray alluded to. The witness then examined the countenances of all in the room, and deciared his atter inability to recognise the person called "Jack the Rambler." The witness then examined the countenances of all in the room, and deciared his atter inability to recognise the person whom he saw with the knife at the time Mullims was stabbed. The witness said that Mullims, and most of the others, appeared to be a pretty high set of boys. They were brought into the saleon in question, and treated to drinks by one of our city fathers; it was about the time of the celetions. The Alderman, however, had left just before the disturbance took place.

Leant 23.—William Jolinghams vs. the New York Insurence Compony.—This was an action for the value of twenty-seven cases of hardware, consigned from Solitagen, in Prussia, to New York. A quantity of the goods was demaged on their arrival in this city; and as the partise evald not agree as to the amount of loss which the defendants ought to pay, the defendants determined to sell the goods at auction, for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of loss and placed the goods in the hands of their auctioneer for that purpose. The suctioneer failed, and did not pay over the proceeds of the sale to either of the parties to the suit, and the plaintiff brings this suit to recover from the defendants the amount for which the goods sold. The defence is, that in point of fact, the auctioneer was as much the agent of the plaintiff as of the defendants, and that they are not liable either as owners or custodinas of the twenty-seven cases of hardware, or as employers of the auctioneer.

The court charged that unless the defendants had excluded the plaintiff from participating in the conduct or Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman, in Dayton, G.

Da. A. M. Maunicrau—My dear Sir—The Married Woman's Private Medical tompanion, for which I enclosed one deliar to your address, came safely to hand. I would not have troubled you with those few lines, but that I am inspelled by a sense of gratitude, for myself and wife, to give utterance to our sincere and heartfelt emotions.

My wife has been perceptibly sinking for some three years or mere, in consequence of her great anguish and suffering some menths before and during commement; every successfreen mere and nore delalitated and prestrated her, putting her life in imminent danger, and which was on the last occasion, despaired of. I supposed that this state of things was inevitable, and resigned myself to meet the worst. At this time (new about two montas) I heard your book nighly appeared, and the logs in the secretary of t panels. But for this, ore another year would have peased over my land, in all human probability, my wife would have been in her grave, and my children left motherless.

Dr. A. M. MAURICKAV.—"Had I known of the despotant matters treated of in the Earried Woman's Private Medical Companion some years ago, now much misery I might have escaped. I have suffered years from causes which you point out in your book, without knowing what to de. I setained a copy, and from my case treated of. I trust every lemale will grail herself of the information contained in its pages."

Letters are daily received of this character, unanomenty to prefuge healtating as to the propriety of incurring the responsibilities attendant upon it, the importance of being presenced of the revelations contained in these pages, to infinitely involving their luture happiness, cannot be appreciated.

timately involving their future is princes, cannot be appreciated.

It is, of course, impracticable to convey more fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage neither is it necessary, since it is every one's duty to become possessed of knowledge whereby the onferings to which a wife, a mother, or a sister, may be subject, can be obvisted,
